3.1 The Buyer has the right to purchase Goods through the e-shop, i.e. to enter into a purchasing agreement with the Seller for the purchase of Goods (hereinafter referred to as the "Agreement").

3.2 Purchasing Goods through the Website is a service provided by the Seller within its rights as a retailer. Goods purchased through the Website are not intended for resale by the Buyer for business purposes. In the event that the Buyer wants to buy Goods for the purpose of carrying out their own business activities, the Buyer is required to inform the Seller and fulfil the obligations specified by the Seller to conclude a resale purchase agreement.

3.3 The Agreement between the Buyer and the Seller is finalised by providing all necessary information regarding the specifications of the Goods (goods description, size, colour, etc.), choosing a payment and delivery method and any other necessary information required on the purchasing form in order to place the order. The Buyer is obliged and entitled to check the completed form before the final confirmation and placing of the order and to correct any information where appropriate. After confirming and placing the order, the completed information cannot be changed; the order and Agreement are binding and may not be terminated, except as provided in the article below.

3.4 Based on the placed order, the Seller reserves the right to ask the Buyer for additional confirmation of the order by another suitable means (apart from confirmation on the Website), e.g. by telephone or in writing. If the Buyer refuses to authorize such an order in the required method, the order is considered void.

3.5 In justified cases the Seller may terminate the Agreement by other means of long distance communication (other than through the Website) i.e. through e-mail communication or by phone. In this case the Agreement is concluded when:

(i) The Buyer will receive from the Seller by means of long distance communication (especially e-mail correspondence) a summary of all the essential parts of the Agreement, i.e. product description, price delivery method, cost of delivery and payment, etc.; and

(ii) The Buyer has 12 hours once in receipt of the aforementioned order summary and purchase Agreement to reject or amend the order by responding to the Seller via e-mail at: eshop@sportisimo.com, stating the order number and any other information specified by the Seller for the identification of the order.

3.6 The Seller is not responsible if the Buyer has not received the relevant electronic communication, or even the ordered goods, if it was delivered to the address specified by the Buyer (and/or when a third person was entitled to accept the delivery and the communication and/or Goods were accepted or rejected by this person). The Seller is not able or obliged to identify and check the accuracy of the information completed on the purchasing form of the Website by the Buyer when placing the order. Only the Buyer is responsible for the accuracy of the information provided.

3.7 The Seller is entitled to use cookies or other digital means for assisting in the automatic completion of the purchasing form for orders.

3.8 The Agreement between the Seller and the Buyer is concluded by the Buyer, in placing the order (completing all necessary information on the purchasing form) and confirming the order. The Seller will send the Buyer confirmation by email regarding the receipt of the order.

3.9 Only Goods expressly ordered by the Buyer are subject to the Agreement, unless otherwise agreed between the Buyer and the Seller.

3.10 The Buyer acknowledges that the Goods offered on the Website by the Seller are also sold to the Seller's customers in the Seller's stores and that information about the Goods in stock on the Website is regularly updated, though it may sometimes happen that the Goods ordered are already sold out (although still listed as available on the Website). In this case, the Seller shall inform the Buyer immediately. If within 2 days both parties cannot agree to either extend the term of the order or choose another product, etc.) the Agreement shall expire and neither party is entitled to any compensation.

- with receipt/invoice in paper form inserted into the package supplied with the Goods.

3.12 At the request of the Buyer, the Seller is obligated to issue the certificate of purchase indicating the sale date, product description, price, delivery address and date, together with the identification information of the Seller. The Seller fulfils this obligation by sending the Buyer a copy of the order.

3.13 The Buyer acknowledges that the Goods may differ slightly from the photos on the Website (especially due to colour rendering, etc.) and this difference is not to be considered a defect.

3.14 The Buyer is entitled to terminate the already concluded Agreement (to cancel or change the order) if he notifies the Seller about the termination (cancellation of the order) at the latest in 2 hours after the Agreement has been concluded (the order placed) or before the order is at the packing line by e-mail to eshop@sportisimo.com.

4.5 In case the Buyer agrees and authorises the delivery of their Goods to a third person (Agreement in favour of a third person), the entitled third party acquires the ownership right to the Goods by accepting the delivery (and becomes the Buyer with all the Buyer's rights and responsibilities). In case the third person refuses to take possession of the Goods, the Buyer who initially placed the order once again acquires ownership title to the Goods and the Agreement and logistics regarding the fulfilment of the delivery will continue between the Buyer and Seller. If the Buyer sells the Goods to a third person, the third person does not assume any rights above the Seller.

9.1 The Buyer is entitled to terminate the Agreement concluded through the Website (by means of long distance communication) without giving reason under the below specified circumstances:

9.2 The Buyer has the right to terminate the Agreement (and therefore return the Goods) without giving reason within a period of 14 days from the day of purchase or delivery.

9.3 The Buyer must deliver a written notice of termination to the Seller:

(i) to the address: SPORTISIMO s.r.o. - E-SHOP, Za Panskou Zahradou 1018/1, 252 19 Rudná u Prahy;

9.5 If the Agreement is terminated (or Goods are returned) without reason, the Buyer must send or hand-over the Goods to the Seller without undue delay, no later than 14 days from the delivery of the termination notice. To facilitate the process of returning the Goods, the Buyer will be asked to insert the printed termination notice along with the receipt/invoice into the package of returned Goods. The Seller may request proof of the Goods' origin and the Buyer must comply in providing this.

The buyer must return the Goods to the Seller at the following address: Sportisimo s.r.o. - E-shop, Logistic Park Rudná, Za Panskou Zahradou 1018/1, 252 19 Rudná u Prahy. The Goods must be sent by standard mail. Payment for the delivery is the Buyer's responsibility. Once

The refund will be processed as an international bank transfer via code IBAN of the Buyer.

9.7 If the Buyer has chosen a delivery method of Goods from the Seller (in the order of Goods), other than the cheapest method, the Seller will only refund the Buyer the cost of the cheapest delivery method for the delivery of Goods. In the event that the Buyer withdraws from the purchase contract only in respect to part of the Goods (the Buyer bought more Goods within one Contract / order and withdraws / returns only some Goods) and the price for transport of all Goods was determined / agreed within one Contract / order by one amount for all the Goods, then the Seller does not return the price paid for the transport of the Goods to the Buyer (he returns such a price for transport only if the Buyer withdraws from the entire Contract, i.e. all Goods purchased under one Contract / order).

9.8 If the Buyer terminates the Agreement without reason, the Buyer bears the cost of the returning and delivering the Goods back to the Seller, even if the Goods cannot be returned by standard mail.

9.9 The Seller is not obliged to repay the purchase price and respective costs to the Buyer before the Buyer delivers the Goods back to the Seller or proves that the Goods were sent back to the Seller.

9.10 The Buyer is responsible to the Seller for any devaluation in the Good's value/price, caused by the use of the Goods for anything other than to test the Goods indoors (in the household) to check the nature and characteristics of the Goods for its stated use, including its functionality (this shall be hereinafter referred to as the "Compensation"). In this case, the Seller may repay the Buyer the price of the Goods but at a deducted rate.

9.11 In case there is a termination to the Agreement of services started at the request of the Buyer before the end of the termination period, the Buyer is obliged to pay for services provided to the Buyer before the termination of the Agreement.

9.12 For the first exchange of Goods in the specified time, the Seller does not charge any fees for packaging and delivery. The exchange of Goods may be carried out by sending the Goods by mail. X. LIABILITY FOR DEFECTS, WARRANTIES, CLAIM ON DEFECTS, SERVICE

10.1 The Seller is liable to the Buyer for defects to the Goods at the time of delivery. In particular, the Seller guarantees to the Buyer that, at the time of delivery, the Goods:

- (i) will be delivered in the agreed condition/quality, or (if no quality is agreed) in such a quality as stated by the Seller or the manufacturer, or a quality which the Buyer would expect given the nature of the product and the respective advertisement,
- (ii) are fit for the purpose stated by the Seller or the standard purpose for that kind of product,
- (iii) are of good quality, as expected by the Buyer when purchasing items as advertised on the website,
- (iv) are in the right quantity, measure or weight, and
- (v) satisfy all requirements of the legislation.

10.2 In case the defect to the Goods is visible and/or appear within twelve months of the delivery, it is assumed the Goods were already defective at the time of delivery.

10.3 The Seller provides the Buyer a warranty of the Goods for 24 months (unless stated otherwise) as of the delivery date.

10.4 The length of time in which the Buyer claims that the Goods are defective, until the Buyer was entitled to receive the Goods back from warranty procedure, is not counted in the warranty period. If the Goods were exchanged as a result of a defective product claim then the warranty period starts again from the date of delivery of the exchanged Goods to the Buyer. The same applies to Goods' parts, if there is a partial replacement. The warranty period should not be confused with the durability (service/shelf life) of the Goods, i.e. the time in which, providing proper use and maintenance, the Goods may endure and maintain their quality.

[Buyer's rights/claims on defects]

10.5 The Buyer is entitled to claim defects on the Goods that appear in the period of 24 months from the delivery date. This does not apply to (a) Goods sold at a lower price because of the defect, for which the lower price was negotiated, (b) wear and tear caused by standard use, (c) used Goods sold with defects, or (d) another agreement otherwise negotiated by the parties or if and when it is apparent from the condition of the product.

10.6 If, on the packaging or in the instructions attached to the Goods or in the owner's manual, a warranty period is stated, then this specifically stated warranty period shall apply.

10.7 Upon request, the Seller will confirm to the Buyer in writing, to what extent, and for how long it assumes responsibility for any defects found with the Goods. The confirmation shall contain the name, address, identifying information, and/or all information necessary to determine the Seller's identity. If requested, the Seller will explain the content, scope, terms and duration of the responsibility for defects and how the Buyer may assert their rights arising from defects. The Seller will also state what Buyer's rights are not affected by the claim on a defect. If the purchased product does not otherwise require it, a certificate shall replace the proof of purchased goods containing the aforementioned information.

10.8 If the Goods were not delivered in the respective quality, i.e. if there is any defect, the Buyer may demand that:

(i) the delivery of the new product - to be free of any defects (if this claim is not inappropriate to the kind of defect, especially if the defect can be removed or repaired without undue delay, or if it is a minor defect that does not prevent the use of the Goods);

(ii) if the defect affects only a part of the product, the Buyer may demand a replacement of this component;

(iii) if the claims under points (i) and/or (ii) above are inappropriate to the kind or extent of the defect (especially if the defect can be removed or repaired without undue delay), then the Buyer is entitled to claim the repair of the defect for free;

(iv) if the execution of the claims according to the previous points is not possible or if the defect means a substantial breach to the Agreement, then the Buyer is entitled to terminate the Agreement.

10.9 In case of a removable defect, but the Buyer is prevented from a proper use of the Goods because of a repeated defect and/or a larger number of defects, the Buyer may claim the delivery of new product and/or replacement of defective parts. In this case, the Buyer also has the right to terminate the Agreement.

10.10 If the Buyer does not:

(i) terminate the Agreement, or

(ii) claim the right to replace the defect Goods (or the replacement of its parts), or

(iii) claim the repair of the Goods,

then the Buyer may instead claim an appropriate discount from the purchase price.

The Buyer is also entitled to claim an adequate discount if:

(i) the Seller cannot deliver the new product without defects, or

(ii) the Seller cannot replace its defective parts, or repair the defect, or

(iii) if the Seller fails to remedy the defect in any other way within a reasonable length of time, or

(iv) if the other ways of remedy of the defect gives rise to substantial difficulties for the Buyer.

10.11 The Buyer is not entitled to claim for defects if the Buyer was aware that the Goods were defective at the time of purchasing, or if the Buyer has caused the defect.

10.12 In the event of defective products sold as used or for a lower price, the Buyer is entitled to an adequate discount instead of the delivery of a new product.

10.13 Claims for defects should be addressed to the Seller. However, if the certificate issued by the Seller lists another person designated for repairs and these are in the same location as the Seller or closer to the Buyer, then the Buyer may claim and carry out the repair of the product with this person. The designated person shall ensure the repair is carried out within 30 days, unless the parties agree otherwise.

10.14 If the Buyer claims the defective Goods (complaints), the Seller shall confirm to the Buyer in writing when the claim was exercised, as well as the repair of the Goods and the duration of the repair.

10.15 The Buyer is obliged to notify the Seller that the product is defective without undue delay after a defect becomes apparent. The Seller is not liable to compensate for a further defects arising from the use of the defective product after the defect became apparent. Along with the notification of the defect, the Buyer must inform the Seller about the particularities of the defect with the respective claim on how it should be settled; the claim settlement cannot be changed unless otherwise agreed with the Seller.

10.16 The location for claiming a defect is the Seller's customer centre: Za Panskou Zahradou 1018/1, Rudná u Prahy, ZIP Code: 252 19 – by sending the defective Goods with the claim by mail. To facilitate communication, the Buyer should label the package with "Claim for defect - e-shop" and give adequate contact information, such as their address and telephone number. The Seller will not accept any unauthorised delivery requiring payment by the Seller.

10.17 The Buyer is obliged to prove that the defective Goods were purchased from the Seller and that the defect is noted/claimed in due time. Without proof of these facts, the Seller is not obliged to accept the claims.

10.18 For an appropriate assessment of defects and their settlement, the Buyer is obliged to deliver the Goods so that the Seller is able to assess and settle the claim. The Seller is not obliged to accept the Goods for defect claims: (i) when it is impossible to assess and settle the claim and/or (ii) when the Goods are not clean, dry, etc. in accordance with general hygienic requirements and/or proper conditions expected of the product.

10.19 The Seller or its authorised person shall decide on the claim over the defect immediately after the delivery of the notice and the Goods for inspection; in complicated cases within three working days. This period does not include the length of time required for the expert assessment of the defect if necessary. Claims over the defect, including the settlement of the defect, must be executed without undue delay, at the latest within 30 days of the claim notice, unless the Seller and the Buyer agree to a longer period.

10.20 The Seller shall inform the Buyer about the settlement of the claim by e-mail.

10.21 The Seller shall present the Buyer with confirmation about the claim over the defect, containing the time of notice/claim, the content of the claim, what settlement(s) over the defect is/are demanded, as well as details about the repair and its duration and a written justification in case the claim is rejected.

10.22 If the defective Goods were send for the claim assessment by mail, after the settlement of the claim the Seller will send the Goods to the address of the Buyer, otherwise the Goods will be ready for pick up at the point where the claim was made and/or at a respective store.

10.24 According to the terms agreed in the Agreement, the Seller provides maintenance or service repairs at no cost, or in some cases, for a minimal fee. The service is always provided at the store where the goods were purchased, or in a store specified by the Seller, or in a location designated by the Seller where similar products are sold.

11.1 In case the Seller provides the Buyer with additional concessions associated with the acquisition of the Goods (such as a lenthier period for the exchange/return of Goods, etc.) then these special conditions offered by and agreed to by the Seller may be employed by the Buyer instead of the standard conditions stated in these TC.

11.2 For other Buyer's claims/rights not specially stated in these TC, the appropriate condition of these TC shall apply mutatis mutandis and/or optionally the standard and conventional trade procedures are applicable for the realization of the Buyer's rights/claims with regard to the protection of the Buyer as a consumer.
